EXAMINATIONS AND INSPECTION.

As was stated in the Report for 1911 the Board when drawing up the Rules and Programme for 1913 abolished the examination for the Preparatory Grade. Being fully convinced of the importance to the general work of a school of a sound course of instruction before students enter for examinations, and being at the same time satisfied that the existing Preparatory Grade examination imposed a severe strain on students of a tender age, the Board was anxious to give greater freedom to the schools while continuing every inducement to them to lay a solid basis of training. This it had hoped to do by paying a bonus school grant depending on the reports of the inspectors as to the efficiency of the school as a whole, with special reference to the Preparatory classes.

It was found, however, that under the existing limitations on the powers of the Board there was no means of giving effect to this desire.

Mr. Thos. O'Donnell, M.P., introduced in May, 1912, a Bill dealing with Intermediate Education.

Mr. O'Donnell's Bill did not meet with the approval of the Board, as it appeared to contemplate the abolition of all examinations. The Commissioners are desirous of retaining examinations for honours, of abolishing the present pass examination and substituting for them an "intermediate" and also a "leaving certificate" examination.

The Chief Secretary on July 23rd, 1912, made a statement in the House of Commons on the subject of the existing powers of the Board, and promised to introduce during the Autumn Session a short Bill dealing with Intermediate Education, and freeing the Board from the limitations which force it to pay fees entirely on the results of public examinations.

In consequence the Chief Secretary introduced in January, 1913, a Bill providing that the Board need no longer hold examinations other than examinations of students competing for exhibitions and prizes and giving the Board power to provide for the payment to managers of fees dependent

(a) on the results of inspection of schools; or

(b) partly on the results of such inspection, and partly on the results of honour examinations.

This Bill provoked opposition.

It appeared to give the Board power either

(1) to retain the present system, or (2) to make school grant wholly dependent on the results of inspection, or (3) to make the grant depend partly on inspection and partly on honour examinations.

Owing to the opposition excited the Bill was withdrawn.

The solution of the problem would appear to the Board to be

1. The abolition of the restriction which makes school grant entirely dependent on examinations.

2. The adoption of a system whereby examination and inspection should each have a share in determining the grant.

These objects might be attained as follows—

The school grant should be a capitation grant, paid to schools which satisfy the required conditions, on all pupils between the ages of 12 and 19 years, who have been in regular attendance during the year.

The conditions to be fulfilled by schools should include

(1) That the schools should be certified as efficient by the Inspectors of the Board.

(2) That a reasonable proportion of the pupils should pass the certificate examinations.

(3) That the teachers should possess qualifications to be approved by the Board.

The capitation grant should be greater for students between the ages of 16 and 19 than for those under 16 years of age.

A bonus grant might be paid to schools of more than average efficiency shown either by a high proportion of passes in the certificate examinations or by a high proportion of successes in the honour examinations.

NEW COURSES.

A good deal of attention was given by the Board this year to the problem of the class of pupils who have to leave school about the age of sixteen or earlier in order to earn their living and whose education, of whatever kind it be, finishes then. The Board considered the question of providing a distinct alternative to their present courses with special reference to the requirements of these pupils, who now form a large proportion of those attending the schools under the Irish Intermediate Education Board. The present courses aim at what the Board has always held to be true secondary education, that is, general education continuing beyond the age of sixteen or education in preparation for the university; and in its view the needs of pupils whose schooling must cease at or before the age of sixteen could be more suitably provided for in upper primary and trade preparatory schools, or schools with a technical trend, than in Intermediate schools properly so called. At the same time the fact that these pupils resort in large numbers to the schools under the Intermediate Education Board must be taken into account, and the problem of the Board has been how to provide an alternative for these pupils without doing harm to the training of pupils continuing their education further or preparing for the university. It has provided such an alternative for pupils going in for commercial callings. Under the rules as they are now altered a commercial course is made a subject in Rules 6 and 7, and this composite commercial subject will be regarded as equivalent to a language for the purpose of a pass. That is, a student taking it need only present himself in one modern language. In regard to Exhibitions, the Honours in this subject will come under Group D, and will be a possible substitute in that Group for either the Experimental Science subject or the Mathematical subject. Thus as the rules (for 1914) now stand a student may pass the examination in the following course:—(1) English, (2) One modern language and Composite Commercial subject, (3) Mathematics, (4) One other subject. By Composite Commercial course is meant, for, e.g., Junior Grade a pass in three of the following—(a) Commercial Geography, (b) Book-keeping, (c) Précis, (d) Shorthand. Furthermore, a student may gain an Exhibition in Group D on the marks obtained in (1) English, (2) Composite Commercial Course, (3) a Science Course, or a Mathematical subject.

This arrangement, however, deals only with the case of pupils intended for commercial callings, and the Board is conscious that it does not touch the case of pupils who about the age of sixteen have to leave school to enter a trade or to work on the land.

The Board is of opinion that it was not the purpose of the Intermediate Education Act of 1878 to provide for this class of pupils in the schools denominated Intermediate in the Act; and it holds that provision for such pupils should be made in higher grade primary schools, of a practical character. If, however, it is decided that suitable provision for these pupils be made in the schools under the Intermediate Education Board, it will, in the judgment of the Board, be necessary that the Board's funds be so increased that the Board shall be able, without prejudice to the higher work of the schools, to provide for inspection and examination in courses suitable to the pupils in question.

A sum of money, subscribed in memory of the late THOMAS HENRY BURKE, Esq., Under Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant, was transferred by the Burke Memorial Committee, on 18th March, 1884, to the Intermediate Education Board for Ireland, who undertook to administer in accordance with the following Rules—(the sum funded is £1,222 18s. 11d. Consols) :—

I. The annual income from the fund shall be applied in paying three Prizes, one of £16, one of £10, and a second of £10; any surplus or deficiency to be apportioned in the same ratio. II. No student shall be qualified to receive these Prizes except the children of persons who are, or have been, in receipt of salary or pension in Ireland, paid out of money derived from Parliamentary Grants, Rates or Taxes, other than members of the Naval or Military Services not being also in Civil employment.

III. The Prizes shall be awarded as follows :—that of £16 to the Boy whom, at the annual Examination in the Junior Grade among Male Candidates qualified in the manner expressed in the next preceding Rule, the Board shall adjudge to have obtained the highest aggregate of Honour marks in the subjects in which he presented himself for examination; One Prize of £10 to the Boy whom, in the same Grade at such Examination, the Board shall adjudge to have obtained the next highest aggregate of Honour marks in the subjects in which he presented himself for examination; and the other of £10 to the Girl whom, at such Examination in the same Grade, among Female Candidates in the manner aforesaid, the Board shall adjudge to have obtained the highest aggregate of Honour marks in the subjects in which she presented herself for examination.
